

Web Sites Offering Information About Prostate Cancer

Please note: These web sites were current as of September 2009. It is possible that some web addresses may change or not be available in the future. If clicking on the link does not work for you, paste the entire address into your browser.

SURVIVORSHIP AFTER PROSTATE CANCER TREATMENT
Name of organization	Web site address	Comments
UsToo International	http://ustoo.com/post_treatment_issues.asp	This site is primarily about the symptoms that occur after treatment and their management. It provides good psychosocial information.
Prostate Cancer Foundation	http://www.prostatecancerfoundation.org/site/c.itiWK2OSG/b.1420081/k.93C6/Side_Effects.htm	This site focuses on specific symptoms and their management. It provides good psychosocial information.
The Cancer Information Network	http://www.cancerlinksusa.com/prostate/wynk/index.htm	This site deals with symptoms and their management. It provides helpful psychosocial and referral information.
CancerCare	http://www.cancercare.org/pdf/booklets/ccp_prostate_advanced.pdf?origin-enuw	A good site to order many booklets about survivorship. It also provides the address of several referral centers.
National Comprehensive Cancer Network	http://www.nccn.com/prostate_cancer_overview.aspx	A good site that offers information on prostate cancer and survivorship.
American Society of Clinical Oncology	http://www.cancer.net/patient/Survivorship	This site has lots of good information including general cancer and specific prostate cancer information.
Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center	http://www.mskcc.org/mskcc/html/12257.cfm	This site provides many patient stories. It offers helpful information on wellness in general as well as referral information to other sites.

General Cancer Survivorship
American Cancer Society	http://www.cancer.org/docroot/HOME/srv/srv_0.asp	This site has good information for the post-treatment phase.
Cancer Backup	http://www.cancerbackup.org.uk/Resourcessupport/Practicalissues/Lifeaftercancer	This site has a lot of good information about cancer but is difficult to navigate.
National Cancer Institute	http://www.cancer.gov/cancertopics/life-after-treatment	This site offers information on many aspects of getting through the period after cancer treatment.
Lance Armstrong Foundation	http://www.livestrong.org/	General discussion about issues after cancer treatment is provided. It is a little difficult to navigate and find information specific to prostate cancer.
Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center	http://www.mskcc.org/mskcc/html/58022.cfm	This site gives general information about survivorship. There is not a great deal of information that is specific to prostate cancer.
University of Michigan Cancer Center	http://www.cancer.med.umich.edu/support/survivorship.shtml	This site gives helpful information following any cancer treatment.
University of Toronto Cancer Center	http://www.library.utoronto.ca/medicine/prostate	This site primarily offers booklets that can be downloaded.
University of Pennsylvania Cancer Center	http://www.oncolink.upenn.edu/types/article.cfm?c=16&s=57&ss=608&id=8039	This site provides a good deal of information on surviving prostate cancer. It has helpful information about the social and behavioral aspects of cancer.

TREATMENT INFORMATION ABOUT PROSTATE CANCER

Name of organization	Web site address	Comments
American Cancer Society	http://www.cancer.org/docroot/home/pff/pff_0.asp?level=0	This is a comprehensive site with fairly specific information about treatment choices. It also offers information about screening.
American Urological Association	http://www.urologyhealth.org/auafhome.asp	This site offers good general information about screening and treatment for prostate cancer.
United Kingdom Prostate Link	http://www.prostate-link.org.uk/	This is an international web site that provides many links to information sources for prostate cancer. It also gives ratings of the quality of the web pages.
Michigan Cancer Consortium	http://www.prostatecancerdecision.org	This site has a comprehensive review of all treatment options. It is easy to read and informative.
National Cancer Institute	http://www.cancer.gov/cancertopics/types/prostate	This site offers a helpful review of all aspects of prostate cancer. It also has information about treatment.
Cancer Research Institute	http://www.cancerresearch.org/prostatebook.html	This site has very general information about cancer, and it offers books for sale which may be more comprehensive.
American Society of Clinical Oncology	http://www.cancer.net/patient/Cancer+Types/Prostate+Cancer?sectionTitle=Treatment	This site provides a thorough review of all aspects of prostate cancer. It is fairly easy to find answers to questions.

Universities, Comprehensive Cancer Centers and Hospitals
University of Michigan	http://www.cancer.med.umich.edu/cancertreat/urologiconcology/prostate_cancer_information.shtml	Although this site offers information about prostate cancer treatment, it is a little difficult to get around this site.
University of Toronto	http://www.library.utoronto.ca/medicine/prostate/	This site offers good but general information. It is difficult to find answers specific questions about prostate cancer treatment.
Memorial Sloan-Kettering	http://www.mskcc.org/patients_n_public/about_cancer_and_treatment/cancer_information_by_type/prostate_cancer/index.html	There is a great deal of information on this site, but most of it is very general.
Mayo Clinic	http://www.mayoclinic.com/health/prostate-cancer/DS00043/DSECTION=treatments-and-drugs	This site is well written but the information is not very specific.

Web Information Sources
Canadian Prostate Cancer Network	http://www.cpcn.org/	This site does a good job of covering a wide range of information well. It is fairly easy to get around the site.
Patient Website of National Comprehensive Cancer Network	http://www.nccn.com/Content-Library/Default.aspx?keyword=prostate%20cancer	This site offers good comprehensive information about prostate cancer treatment.
NCI Information About Prostate Cancer Research	http://newscenter.cancer.gov/pressreleases/pcos.html	This site offers a great deal of helpful information, but some of the words may be hard for the general public to understand.
US TOO	http://ustoo.com/	This site offers good information about treatment in general. It is written from the patient's point of view and is very helpful.
American Prostate Foundation	http://www.ameripros.org/prostate_cancer.html	This site provides good general information about treatment. Even though the information is well written, some of the positive and negative aspects of treatment are very general.

This information was developed in response to Michigan's Comprehensive Cancer Control Plan, under guidance of the Prostate Cancer Action Committee. Their efforts were supported in part by the University of Michigan School of Nursing and the Michigan Department of Community Health with funding from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Cooperative Agreement 5U58DP000812. The contents of the publication do not necessarily represent the official views of the CDC.

This fact sheet contains general information and is not meant to replace consultation with your doctor or nurse.

Developed September 2009.